A MESSAGE FROM HAMLIN GARLAND

I am writing this as I stand on the first plane with my heart filled with compassion for the world and for those yet upon earth. I am writing this to tell all seekers the facts regarding these planes. There is no mystery, nothing ghostly or ghastly; there is nothing to death but a beautiful transition, a graceful gliding into realms here awaiting you.

Have, therefore, no fear in your heart when you contemplate departure from the earth. Y ou will not die. You will live, and you will be joyous, free and happy, and you will thrive as you wished to thrive on earth. That is your heritage - the heritage of every person born upon earth. The time there is brief. The effort to prolong it is tragic. The desire to remain on earth when these planes are already calling, is deplorable. T he wish to prolong the suffering on earth and the lack of interest in the future, is pitiful. Put aside your doubts. Lay aside your fears. As you grow older in years, your earthly body causes you discomfort. Look forward to the time when you can lay it aside as an outmoded vehicle.

Look forward to your coming with hope and confidence. Cheerfully make your plans, and happily base them upon the knowledge that has come to you. This knowledge will be substantiated, and an ever-present source of comfort for all seekers, into the now-unknown but then-open vistas, with a door between through which every living being of earth will pass. What is beyond that door you will discover..... Here you begin again. Here are all the occupations of earth. And I cannot make it too plain that here you will be adrift if you have not built a foundation (of plans and ideals), and that you will be dependent upon the efforts of others until you find your own niche or your own groove, and follow it...This is a material world, a material evolution, and a mental evolving. It is a strange world, but very wonderful, and very beautiful and resplendant.....Formulate there a plan for here. Know what you wish to do here. If it is something with which you are unfamiliar, then begin now to familiarize yourself with it. What you learn there will serve you well here; what applies there, applies here. These are practical, material planes. Do not be misled into thinking you will become an ethereal fanciful form, or an irresponsible with no obligations, or a floating consciousness in the atmosphere. And the earth is a place of training. Everything learned there will aid you here ....

(The foregoing was received several years ago through an American business woman who has never made any attempt to develop psychic gifts and was almost wholly uninformed concerning such matters).

THE TELANO COMMUNICATIONS

By BSR Associate Rolfe Telano.

(Rolfe Telano is the pen name of an engineer, writer, and publisher. It is also the name by which he is known on the Etheric planes. His wife, Borealis Telano, is a priestess among the Etheric Venusians. The editors of Round Robin have complete confidence in the integrity and abilities of this Associate).

- - - - - - - - -

The method of receiving the communications was both mental, and a form of automatic writing. That is, it was written directly on my typewriter, and although I was fully conscious at all timea, I often did not know what was going to be set down next. Also, my "Control" used the touch system of typing, and could write as well in the dark as in the light. I myself have never learned the touch system and write by the 'hunt and peck' method. I can receive replies via the pendulum and alphabet card (described in an "Interim Voice Letter") but do not regard it as being as reliable as other means.

Borealis Telano was , and is (so she tells me) my wife on the Venusian etheric plane. I must confess that while I have many hazy memories of it, I have only a few clear ones. However, one does not argue with a lady -- least of all, not with Borealis, who, despite the fact that she is a priestess, can live up to the translation of here name "North Wind" on occasion. I suspect that I must have been somewhat of a henpecked husband. I also suspect that I didn't mind it too much. I hear from her more frequently than from any of the others, and their communications are often relayed via her. Communication with her is easier, she says, due to the natural psychic bond. She seldom discusses religious matters with me at any great length, as I have little understanding or natural inclination for such. Much of the time the communica - tions are quite trivial personal things, regarding my conduct or activities or health, etc. She frequently answers my questions and musings with riddles - which I can sometimes work out, and sometimes not. For example, regarding the man who went to prison: "Much heat is needed to refine the gold from the dross. And again, regarding my musings as to why so much sorrow and evil is permitted in the world: "It is only when winter comes that we know for certain that the spruce and the fir are evergreens."

As to their theology, I know only fragments. They have a supreme Deity but do not regard it as a personalized being. "It is the Unnamable. Not because it would be impious to name It, but because it is impossible. There are no words or thought symbols Associate Rolf Telano is of course the author of The Flying Saucers (BSR Release 1-B-52). He has described in this present article, at the editor's request, the method by which these very important communications are received.

which would create the correct mental image. A finite mind, by its very nature, cannot understand that which is infinite. But it can, in time, become infinite, and be as one with the Unnamable." Many of those whom the early Adams regarded as "Gods" were not deities at all, but quite mortal and material members of the ancient Elder races who dwelt here. Their science was so far above the understanding of these simple folk that it merly seemed super-natural to them -- as a white man's watch or cigarette lighter might seem like great "magic" to a savage. The Old Testament is confusing at times, she once told me, because the writers used the words "God", etc., in reference to both the real Deity and these lesser beings. She also once told me that the essentials of their beliefs are all in the New Testament -- provided one regards only the direct quotations of the Christ, and makes their own interpretations. She does not believe that the Apostles fully understood the teachings and, in their ill-advised attempts to "paint the lily", succeeded only in obscuring the real truths. "They attempted, with their own tinselly additions, to "glorify" and "glamorize" that which was already so glorious that it needed no further beautification. They succeeded only in hiding it." "One must study the words of the Christ; view them from every possible angle, and without any preconceptions. If they have the spirit of a true Seeker, they will at last read between the lines, and the message will stand out so clearly that they will wonder why they never saw it before." But still, with all its faults, she seems to have considerable regard for the Churches here. "The Teacher must be in advance of his Students, but not too far in advance, or they will lose sight of him and learn nothing at all. The Child must learn to creep before it can walk." I remember fragments myself -- from long ago -- perhaps when I was just a student in some etheric "sunday school" -- which Borealis says I recall correctly. Such as: "When I was in the bright Noonday of my arrogant pride, I strode the Path with a firm and resolute step. For I knew that for which I sought, and I knew that this was the correct Pathway to it. When the shadows of Evening gave way to the shades of Night, I still continued onward, for the bright Beacon of my faith beckoned me steadily forward. And then the Beacon Light grew dim and flickered out; and I stood in fear and trembling, for the Night was dark, and the Way was strange, and the Forest was filled with pitfalls and wild beasts. And I cried out in my terror, saying: 'Where now shall I go? What now shall I do?" And a Voice spake, and said to me: "Cast down thy torch, thysword, and thy buckler, for they will avail thee naught. Go thou out into the Darkness, and place thy right hand into the hand of the Great Nameless One; and fear naught, for It shall guide thee and protect thee." I recall other fragments of lessons, but this seems to have been the one they regarded as most important.

So far as I know, Borealis, or any of the others, would be quite willing to "talk" to you, or anyone else of good will -- If that person was able to establish contact with them. Just how one would go about it, I really don't know. The only real "secret" is intense mental concentration to "send", and complete relaxation to "receive". Some tell me that it helps to mentally visualize the communication "cord" or "ray", which is a bright white surrounded by a bluish white "shield", coming from their forehead. Others visualize themselves rising up and up until they break through the clouds and haze and emerge into a zone of pure brightmess. Others use various prayers, chants, colors, etc. "None of them have any value, except to the extent that they help influence the person's mind, and help him attain the proper degree of concentration or relazation. They are m erely "baby walkers" which he should use until he learns to "walk", and then discard."

This particular group have no connection with the "Cavern Dwellers". They tell me, however, that the caverns do exist, and that I was at various times in communication with them, by means of their "telaug". They do not consider the "Deros" to be any great factor. There is evil below, they say, but it usually strikes only those who, by their own act, have attracted it and opened themselves to such attentions. The majority of those there now are of a rather low order they say -- which confirms my opinion during contacts -- "low" referring to their culture and scientific level, not necessarily their ethics. There are many priestly groups, who have salvaged some of the old wisdom, but have also badly perverted much of it.

The Etheric Nors have and occasionally use a vast assortment of "Ray mechanism" -- developments of Shaver's "mech". The mech left behind here is so obsolete now that their only interest in it would be as "museum pieces". There is progress, even on Etheria. It is not necessary that they use this mechanism, however. Most of them are sufficiently advanced in the mental sciences to accomplish the same result by thought alone, if they desire to do so, and use the "mech" only as a matter of convenience. "The same as you jump into the car and drive up to the corner for a magazine instead of walking." The Yada's reference to discs "emerging from the caverns" (in the BSRA booklet) was a misunderstanding on his part. The communication made no mention of such. The craft referred to were supposedly reactivated and used by a priestly group in Tibet, who have access to the "underworld", but are surface dwellers themselves.

The Palomar pictures could possibly be of Nor carriers. They are now converting to this vibrational plane out about as far as the orbit of the moon, and then come in somewhat closer to discharge their small fliers. On the other hand, they might be from some other source. As Meade Layne -- and your friend -- state, there are many different ones from many different places. The report deals only with the Nor craft, because they are the most numerous, and the ones most frequently seen at the present time. To even list all the various ones would be an impossible task, even if the information was available, which it is not. The Universe is a rather largish place, and our wee speck is not the only one containing intelligent life.

BOREALIS TELANO - to - ROLF TELANO

I would be quite happy to talk to Rev. N. if it should ever become possible. Whether or not it ever does become possible depends on him. I would advise him to not worry about it too much, nor to spend too much time trying to develop contact. If his need for aid or direction should ever become vital, he would have contact; either with myself, or with whomever else could be of the most assistance to him. At the moment he has no such vital need. He is already on the right Pathway, and further along it than he realizes.

It is not my wish to suggest any new church or religion. Such would merely add one more to the already too numerous divisions. The need is for a gathering together, not further separation. Many of the churches are guilty of many vital sins. But, from the long range view, their general influence has been good. When your sacred writings first came into being, the Adamic races were a simple folk, and their understanding was small. The truths had to be presented to them indirectly, in a manner which would penetrate their minds. There were many childish wrappings and accouterments. The Child is now almost an Adult. The time has come to begin putting away the childish things.

The ground was never more fertile for the seeds of truth than it is now. The cares and tribulations of your world have troubled the souls of the Adamic races of every land. They have turned their thoughts inward, and have caused a great spiritual unrest which is the prelude to a spiritual reawakening. Statistics will show that the numbers who go to your churches now is greater than it ever was before. But, as one of your men in public life recently declared: "Statistics are like a Bikini bathing suit. What they reveal is interesting, but what they conceal is vital." More people than ever before are attending the churches, but they are not the same people. They are turning first to the Church but, not finding the answers to their questions there, go elsewhere to continue their quest.

There is no reason why they could not and should not find the answers which they seek in their church. There is no need for any new truths. Neither is it necessary for any of the clergy to preach any heresy to their faith. For the truths are already contained in the writings of all major faiths and religions. All that an enlightened clergy need do is to seek these truths out from among the chaff, and stress them to their followers.

Let them begin with Universal Brotherhood, for this is perhaps the greatest need of all at the present time, and would solve many of the most pressing problems of your world today. The whole truth is that not only men, but every intelligent being of every sort, on every plane and planet, whether "human" or not, are Brothers. But the Adamic races are not yet ready for this whole truth, so it would be sufficient to teach them only the Brotherhood of Man.

For they are in actual scientific fact Brothers. Their physical bodies are all made from the same atoms. Their spiritual selves are all a portion of the Great Unnamable. Each is only one small part of the whole. Would the finger maliciously harm the eye? Or the teeth spitefully bite the tongue? Then why should on individual seek to harm that which is merely another part of his same Greater Self?

- end -

In this supremely critical hour, when there seems to be imminent danger of racial and planetary disaster, there is desperate need for enlightenment and guidance. But in seeking it, it is imperative that we be on guard against two dangers: that of being misled wilfully or by our own ignorance and desire, and that of rejecting true and wise counsel. Discrimination is the first virtue on the Path - and when trouble darkens about us, it becomes more and more difficult.

When Round Robin prints psychic and mediumistic communications, they arefrom sources known to the editors for years past, and from personalities on both planes in whom we have reason to feel confidence. Further guarantee than this is of course not in our power to offer.

Many minor differences, sometimes even major ones, can be dis - covered in such communications. It is well to take note of them, but a grave mistake to magnify them out of all proportion. The universe, as we believe, swarms with life in all its infinite regions, and our ignorance of it is a Stygian darkness. This ignorance is shared in varying degrees, by all thinking beings on all planes - "there is nothing but opinion to be found anywhere". But we cannot, for that reason, refuse to learn, or give way to despair - or to unlearn and reject and hence to grow wiser. Each to his own Path - but let each desire to go forward. That desire will bring its own reward.

With these ideals in mind, we turn now to the unhappy but impressive LAST DAYS of the Guatemalan communicator. Let us try to consider it on its own merits, in the light of commonsense and contemporary world conditions.

THE LAST DAYS

(The following is an abstract of a brochure issued by the Palmivarian Fellowship, P.O. Box 3, Panajachel, Guatemala. The title page also reads "Years of Destiny -- 1952- 1958 -- a confidential manuscript not to be shown indiscriminately -- An offering to humanity in its hour of dire need and impending peril." See further note at end of abstract).

Part I: Real Purpose Behind the Coming of the Flying Discs: It is not reasonable to suppose that these craft come into our skies merely for space cruising, or merely to study and explore (since hundreds are used in mass formations). But the first large scale visitation was soon after the bombing of Hiroshima. Inhabitants of other planets became apprehensive of repercussions on themselves of an atomic war on earth, and saw that this must be prevented at all costs. The interest of these visitors in deposits and workings of uranium ore is significant. pg.1

The saucermen have at their disposal the magnetic force of space,which is far more powerful than the atomic bomb, and there is every reason to believe in their superior scientific knowledge. It is not in quest of our knowledge, therefore, that they visit our earth. It is likely that they are able to perceive injurious effects of atomic radiations at tremendous distances. These may even constitute an interplanetary hazard. It is also believed by some of us, that atomic blasts, by affecting the magnetic forces of the earth, produce earthquakes and tidal waves at distant points. It is believed that the recent cataclysm in the Himalayas was produced in this way. pg.2-3

The purpose of the visitation of the saucermen was to prepare for future operations, to prevent or reduce the effects of further use of the atom bomb - in short, to prepare for intervention if necessary. They may even represent a kind of interplanetary police force. They would make use of the magnetic force of space, by which matter can be disintegrated. A future atomic war will have three rather than two combatants, the saucermen participating in self defense and also in the interest of earthians. pg.3

Concerning the secrecy of earth authorities - perhaps some of them are secretly aware of the truth but fear to paralyze the war effort. But let us keep in mind that the saucermen are friendly and wish to prevent us from destroying ourselves. We may believe that in event of an atomic war the saucermen would station themselves in the stratosphere and carry on operations from there by projecting rays downward, not to destroy cities, but against leaders of atomic operations. They would pick out the key men, by a kind of clairvoyant "television" and destroy them, by a super-atomic 'magnetic death ray'. pg.4-5

Part II: Is Interplanetary Communication Possible? (The author of LAST DAYS here builds up the case for telepathy, and recounts his own experiences, beginning in childhood. The communicator alleged herself to be an Uranian. The messages increased in clarity and importance, several communicators took part, and declared it was they (their people) who sent the flying saucers to earth. They stated that the reasons were in part as already stated in these pages, and also that after our civilization has destroyed itself they wish to land and establish a new race and a new civilization in which they would appear as world teachers. They said that they would positively intervene in an atomic war and that preparation for such intervention was the chief reason for their mass incursion. (pg.7)

These 'Uranians' stated also that a saucer headquarters has been established in the stratosphere, and that all saucers are under one supreme Uranian command. A tremendous number of them are now present. They claim that Urania is the mother planet (of earth) and that the human race was created by them by parthenogenesis; they thus have a parental affection toward the earthians and claim that they will intervene only if we make it necessary. (pg.0)

Part III. A Scientific Theory of Prophecy: The universe as a four-dimensional continuum -- Einstein & Minkowski -- time as a fourth dimension of space -- the Uranians have four-dimensional vision, hence can forsee the future as accurately as the present and the past."The following information is given in the hope of awakening you to action before the fatal hour strikes (quoting the communicator). Millions now living will be on other planets by 1958. Atomic bombs will start falling in 1953. There will be no atomic war in 1952. When the bombing starts we shall destroy those in key military positions. We shall act against the aggressor, but also against the use of atom bombs by either side."

There is an interplanetary law that no one planet may dominate another, but inhabitants of one planet may act to prevent destructive radiations being sent out by another. That is exactly the task of the flying saucers in 1953. pg. 11

Part IV. Preparation for War and Regimentation: 1952 is the lull before the storm - though a very busy and noisy lull. We see a free people working under military orders, the unification of civilian and military command - the chains of regimentation, the rise of concentration camps for intellectuals, free-thinkers, those who refuse to goose-step - an all-powerful Gestapo - martial law for "national emergency" - the boom of war industries to prevent depression - the war of nerves, a cold war getting hotter as 1952 passes into 1953. The war in Asia will continue, if not in one place then in another

We see universal registration day - people given dog collars bearing license tags - women and men alike under the orders of draft boards, told when and where to work and at what salaries and subject to military command. - The economic structure rests on a war economy, hence peace is impossible. The President becomes a military dictator. pg.12

PART V: 1953, Year of Destruction - Most Eventful Year in History.
This year witnessed more deaths than any other single year in the * history of the human race. Millions alive in 1952 were no longer living at the end of '53 -- a year of ghastly horror -- dread and tension - the first atomic bomb was dropped, on a large city - the inhabitants were exterminated like flies - at the periphery of the blast, horribly maimed, crippled in body and mind.-- By the end of '53 the most short-lived of civilizations was no more. Then came the Four Disasters - the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse who followed after Armageddon. -

Note: Parts III-IV-V are statements of the Uranian communicator (prevision).

The panic in the cities, chaos and turmoil, roaming and starving refugees -- air, food and water contaminated by radioactivity -- armed banditry everywhere -- mob violence, civil war, a ruthless dictatorship. Finally the Mongolian invaders, overrunning and enslaving the survivors (between 1954 and '58) -- only in the uncontaminated highlands of northern Central America (and regions to the south) could a new civilization arise. (pg.13

Part VI: Prophecies of an Uranian: The shifting of cycles will occur with maximum intensity between 1952 and 1958 - catastrophic changes -- our Uranian hosts will appear in the highlands of North Central America- the fisrt landings will be in secrecy, in the wilderness.-- Our operations will not begin until man has destroyed his instruments of destruction -- after 1958, the slow degeneration and extinction of your race -- in 1953, millions fleeing en route to nowhere. New York will be bombed, Washington partly destroyed, Detroit completely -- cities on the Pacific coast will suffer less but millions will flee from them... The destruction of New York will be followed by a tidal wave --

The earth has been over-populated with an inferior breed. Most humans are hopeless... we can save only a minority of worthy ones ... all we can do now is to inform you - not compel you ... these are truly Last Days. Yet the earth will again become a paradise under the air civilization of the Uranians -- but if you are caught unaware by the disasters of 1953, nothing can save you...

(The author of Last Days here adds a paragraph on the 3000 Doukho - bors who are preparing to migrate to North Central America). (pg 15).

Part VII: Years of the Four Horsemen: This part of the brochure falls under the headings of : First Disaster -- radioactive contamination, disease, epidemics etc. Second Disaster:--Famine, looting, mobs, fighting. Third Diasaster; civil war. Fourth Disaster: Mongolian Invasion. Complete Asiatic conquest; rapid extermination of the white race. (p.17)

Part VIII. Dawn of a new civilization. Central and South America were almost free from the effects of Armageddon - from Mexico to the Cape - the virgin forests nad rich lands of Guatemala are easily accessible from the United States -- will the new civilization rise in the land of Mayas -- the new race will build their cities in the air -- space travel will be common and easy. (pg.20)

Part IX: The Landing of the Saucers: Communications from the Uranian. (After the Great Catastrophe) -- time, place, and purpose -- pioneer colonies -- the new social order -- the new World Teacher (a woman).

This founding of a new culture is the real and ultimate purpose of the incursion of the saucers. They are the advance guard of the world teachers, of whom there will be many; but the supreme World Teacher will establish herself in her sacred city in the highlands of North Central America. The new civilization will extend southward to the lower end of South America - but not again onto the contaminated region of the North American continent.

Part X. The Coming Migration, North to South. A vast movement will soon set in. American Consulates in Mexico and other Latin American countries are already swamped with inquiries. The Pan-Amer. highway connects New York with Guatemala - no farther from New York than is Salt Lake City. One can travel from Laredo to Guatemala City for about $30. More than 1000 Americans are already resident there. The country is fertile and very beautiful.

COMMENTS OF THE YADaDI SHI'ITE:

(On the afternoon of May 12 I read the substance of the foregoing Release to the trance Control named above, and in return he talked at some length, but in a very general and indirect way. His more relevant and positive statements were about as follows): (ML)

It is true that the war cannot be stopped - too much deep-imbedded hate. .. The true beginning of the new age was the first part of July 1945 -- In 1953 a great change will come about. The high danger point is in February; if that is passed without atomic fighting there is likely to be an interim of several months before atomic weapons are used -- Not later than 1955 the first landings on the moon will be effected; and whoso controls the moon will rule the earth also....

There will be no Mongolian invasion of this country. The races of Asia and India are dying races.

According to my knowledge, the document received from Guatemala is basically correct, tho' I should differ on lesser points involved. I consider it proper to release the text of this document to a selected few who will understand and profit by it.

No refuge on earth can assure complete immunity for the span of your natural lives, but a good degree of safety can be secured in some areas and for a time... The North American continent will become very difficult to live in, but a remnant will survice and will finally be forced underground by atomic contamination of water, air, food, and plant life. . . The present rulers of earth are tools of other and evil Powers, the great Hierarchies who give their own people to suffering and eath without compunction, and who know how to handle the black forces ...

MY ADVENTURE INTO MEDIUMSHIP

As told to Round Robin Editor by

"C. M."

(It has not been the practise of the BSR Directors to print facts and experiences merely because they are unusual and interesting, but rather for the purpose of trying to understand such data and to inte - grate it with other knowledge. Also, where a given experience may perhaps serve as a warning or guide to others, that too seems a good reason for printing it. This latter consideration applies to the following article. The whole story, as we had it from Mrs. C.M., took an hour and a half in the telling, and I regret that the limitations of Round Robin must reduce it to a few minutes only of your reading time.

(The locale of this happening was an isolated ranch house in northern Arizona. There was only one family of near-by neighbors, and it is most remarkable that though greatly alarmed, they did not notify anyone in the town four miles distant, or try to summon a physician or psychiatrist, or make the equally bad blunder of trying to rouse Mrs. C.M. from her trance state by measures of their own. The only professional intrusion was that of a 'trained nurse' who insisted on taking hold of the patient's wrist, with near-disastrous results. I will add about Mrs. C.M. herself, that she is a slender, attractive woman of under middle age, in good health of mind and body (both before and after her experience),much above the average in intelligence, and well informed in psychic and occult matters. She displays a singularly detached and impersonal attitude toward her experience, though at a loss (quite understandably) to grasp the necessity for it). (ml)

'The whole matter began (said Mrs. C.M.) more than a year ago, in connection with certain experiments in automatic writing. This is only my opinion, but it is confirmed by the Mark Probert trance Control known to RR readers as the Yada di Shi'ite. I had done a little of this some years earlier but had given it up. But early in last year (1951) I bought an isolated ranch house in Arizona. It was pleasantly situated, with abundance of water, good soil, fruit trees and a garden, and my idea was to equip it, little by little, as a place of refuge for my friends in case of some of the various predicted disasters. We were guided to this place, of which we had not known beforehand, by the in - structions of a Guide (received clairaudiently), who told us which turn to take at every fork of the road on the 300 mile drive from San Diego. This first trip would in itself make quite a story. But we settled down there, four friends and myself, and began a series of occult studies and experiments. It was then that I resumed automatic writing. A strong impulse came over me to take up a pencil and let my hand be guided, and as a result a great deal of written material was received, which it is not important to describe here.

'But it was then that we made the acquaintance of the Gomerites.

'It seems that these Gomerites - under a leader named Gomer - are a 'lost tribe' of Philistines, the once powerful people and worshippers of Dagon often referred to in the bible. According to what we were told this lost tribe is lost in the astral world also, where they have wandered, under the headship of Gomer, for more than 2000 years. For some time they played an active role in communications with our little group, but the communicators were numerous and I cannot now recall just which ones professed to be Gomerites, or who the others claimed to be. Some of them were very 'bad actors' however. One of them told me with a great show of authority: "you have just one more day to live, then you will die and go to hell." The Yada took a hand in this and advised me, through the mediumship of another person, to write only a little every day. I had often felt a desire to do some form of what spiritualists call rescue work, helping bewildered entities on the lower astral, and so I naturally tried to help the Gomerites. But what happened was that having somehow opened the door to them and other entities, I was then unable to close it.

'How many people are in our insane asylums who have arrived there by some such road as this! Their lot is nearly hopeless because physicians and psychiatrists are unwilling to admit even the possibility of obsession or possession, and consequently will not adopt the only means possible for their relief.

'I think this opening of the psychic door was hastened, perhaps caused, by our repeated use of the AUM's during our sittings. These intonations have a powerful effect on the psychic body and centers, as is well known to spiritualists and occultists. Well, our studies and experiments went on for several months, and then for one reason and another my friends had to return to their California homes, so I was left on the ranch by myself.

'About this time I began to hear voices quite often. They had the internal or in-the-head quality, but were very distinct and individualized. It was mostly low-astral chatter; they talked like logomaniacs (if there is such a word) - seemed under an insane compulsion to talk incessantly about anything and everything. They would talk for an hour at a time about feeding the chickens or any other trivial matter. I naturally became desperately tired of this, and then discovered to my alarm that I was unable to stop their talking - or rather to stop hearing them. Then they tried to frighten me, especially by predicting terrible accidents. There were four or five days and nights of this during which I had no sleep at all. Finally, after I had violently insisted that I be left in peace, another voice came through, which I believed at the time to be that of the Yada.

'This voice told me to sit down in a chair and they would 'show me my own light'. I did this, and on focusing my eyes in space in front of me I saw a blinding white light which seemed to fill the whole room. Then I realized that I couldn't move, that physically at any rate I was in a kind of trance. The voice explained that they were preparing my mind and body for trance mediumship, and particularly for service in "the day of the shaking of the earth in the City of the Angels. " They kept me seated in that chair for two days and nights, with my body bent sideways and my head pressed down onto the arm of the chair. All the time they kept talking to me, but always in a very kind and gentle way, and everything they said seemed very plausible. When I begged them to let me go they said that I was undergoing an initiation, and that it was necessarily painful because the time was short and there was much to be done. For some time I accepted this, partly because I believed the voices to be those of the Mark P. Controls, whom I had often talked with and held in great esteem. During most of this time it was impossible to open my eyes, and I experienced sharp pain when I finally did so. And then I found that my sense of direction had become confused.

At the end of the second day my neighbors (there was only the one family) came into the house to investigate. I still could not raise my head, but I was able to tell them that I was in semi-trance and ask them to come back later. These people, who knew nothing whatever about psychic or trance phenomena, were amazingly tolerant and helpful; they did not impose any measures of their own, but saw to it that I had water and what little food I could take, and watered the chickens and other stock every day for more than two weeks. During all that time I lay on the bed or couch in varying degrees of trance (and during bitterly cold weather without any heat in the house), and went through a long series of remarkable astral experiences. But I did not suffer all the time, and everything that was happening seemed reasonable and even kind. But sometimes the pain in the body was severe, and I was always told just what I could have to eat, and how much. And they kept showing me the Lights of the Inner Circle - or what they so described.

Then the voices began telling me things I knew were not right,and when I questioned them they replied that it was a test of my reason - ing powers - that I was in a period of initiation and testing.

The Gomerites, by the way, had disappeared except for three or four of the most active ones, and as to who the newcomers were I have no knowledge at all, except that they were not members of the Inner Circle as they pretended to be.

After two weeks of this kind of thing I was naturally very tired of it, and decided to refuse and reject the Voices and to fight against them. But they kept going on and on, until finally there seemed to be some kind of intervention by other entities (really of the Inner Circle this time, I believe). They advised me to go very slow in everything I did, and to take hot and cold baths. My hands went under a kind of independent control, and would slap and massage my face and body for hours, as if moving of their own volition. It took a whole week of this before I was able to walk straight and to keep control of my thoughts and attention. Instructions were given me for every move, such as going from one room to another. My eyes would not focus and my hands spent hours patting them with a cold towel.

The whole experience lasted nearly a month, with nearly three weeks of the time in trance or semi-trance. I do not mean that I was unconscious, but I had no control of my body, though I was aware of it and felt physical pain. The first period was that of the first voices, of low-grade astral entities and incessant talking. The second was the 'time of tempting' to belief in prophecies of disaster. I fought this off with love and was quite successful; the "chief tempter" said it was the first time he had ever "received the love of the tempted."

One hint as to part of the meaning of all this may lie in information given me, that in a former incarnation I had been seized and attacked by a band of outlaw 'Arabs'. Part of their expiation consisted in their being obliged to re-enact this violence, though now understanding that it was wicked and cruel. Since I had always wanted to help the earth-bound spirits, and was able to meet them with love, perhaps the scene was all set for this astral drama, in which all the actors either learned or helped others to learn.

Finally, I would like to make it clear that I have never been a 'psychic' or medium or sensitive, nor was I actuated by mere curiosity in going in for occult studies, or in experimenting with the ouija board and attending seances. I have simply felt a great desire for knowledge, and of cousre made mistakes in my approach, as anyone is likely to do. Since my recovery (which seems to me to be complete in every way) I have been told by the Controls of the Inner Circle, that they foresaw what happened to me many months in advance, but that it was written into my Karma or destiny. They took care, they told me, that the experience should not get out of bounds and that no final harm should result, but that they would not go further than this, since each person must tread his own path and is the shaper of his own destiny.

- end -

(Even from the occult point of view, there seems to me much which is obscure about the causes and significance of this episode. Studnets of such subjects, however, may perhaps gain insight from the following comments of the Yada di Shi'ite, a trance control of Mark Probert, given May 1, 1952, substantially as follows):

THE YADA: There are those who desire only to know the Path, others who desire also to tread upon it. Let the student set out by tryng to understand himself, both in body and mind. Yet most of those who set foot on the Path fall under the glittering spell of mysticism. Thereby do they throw themselves to the wolf-pack - i.e.,into the clutches of those who are much less awake than themselves.

Thos who lie upon nails, who hold up their arms until they wither away in desire to attain at-one-ment with God - they too are seeking the easy passage and taking many side roads. How many attain any - where near their goal? It is a long and difficult journey and not to be undertaken lightly. In the process of awakening you will suffer worse than at any time before.

Reading books will not awaken your further. You will gain some understanding from them, but in no case are the real inner truths written down where you can find them. Books are written for some one's gain; they may be very excellent but they are not the KEYS needed to open the Great Door. These Keys you must find for yourself. And a great truth is of little value unless it is translated into action.

Now, if you want to know by action, you enter upon a Path teeming with the most nightmarish things imaginable. Deep within each and every one of us are these creatures of our own making. Man is every - thing, and as he advances and seems to slough off one part of himself after another, he thinks he is becoming human and escaping from the regions of creeping shadowy things. If only we could realize that all these are our own creations, they would vanish like mist before the wind. They are creations born of many experiences on the path upward through the physical world.

Man lives under a hypnotic spell. He believes, like the subject of hypnosis, that his experiences are realities. He is in a constant state of trance and his supposed realities are the visions of that trance. Until he is some distance on that Path, these delusions must endure. They endure until he sees the trickery of his own soul. He denies himself in his role as creator; therefore he pays the penalty of such denial. And the forms which at first are as shadowns become real to him.

O God of Death, depart from me! O Yama, depart from me - for I know thee for what thou art!

Now, the forms will accept that command, because they are shadows of the mind to begin with, and they yield when their nature is known.

The Path of Beauty also opens the psychic doors. Are you prepared to close the doors you do not want opened?

Remember, it is not good to slam the door against fright. No, let it stand open. Let Fear enter in to you, receive it and accept it as a form of experience. Then it is fear no longer, for its power over you is ended.

-end-

(The problem, if I understand the Yada correctly, is not to dis - tinguish between "real" and "unreal" things, but to learn that all things are of one nature. Whateven an object may be 'in itself',for us it is a grouping of perceptions and mental forms, and nothing more. Under hypnosis the 'imagined' wound will kill, or the hemlock cup prove harmless. Horror and beauty, the Angel and the demon, are both real if we accept them, unreal if we do not. Appearance, experience, and acceptation constitute the only reality - and when we realize this, Power awakens within us.) ml

DON GREEN'S LANTERN

It certainly does seem as though some folks have to stay out in the storm a long time before they find out it's raining.

Everyone even remotely interested in "Saucers" has seen by now the Life Magazine spread of April 7th. It's an old set of dishes for many of us; but after all it's a glimmer of the light we've been trying to spark into this thing for a long time.

"The Air Force is ready to concede" -- Who cares how the awakening comes about? Our endeavor has been an impersonal drive to prepare our fellows for what we believe is ahead. If we are right, 'so be it'; that will be the ultimate. The more people forewarned, the better for us all. Our RR editor has been expounding this ever since 'saucers' flew into our range of vision.

There'll be plenty of hit-and-run boys now, to claim they 'saw 'em first' and had a secret hunch what they were. How far they're going to get is problematical, unless they make a radical shift from predetermined limits.

But now that the ice has been broken, or cracked a little anyhow,maybe some editors and columnists will look at us a mite less fish-eyed

What this country needs right now, outside of a few more floods and earthquakes, is a nice big 'flying saucer' pageant - it would work wonders. Paging Etheria!! That sounds a bit brutal perhaps - but sometimes sleep-walkers are hard to waken.

Our own parade of Saucers is too long to itemize, but here are some of them:

News Week 3-3-52. Korean Saucers like orange discs with small bluish flames, flying 200 mph, visible 5 minutes. (cr. Otto Vogt)-- Arizona Daily Star. Fast moving sky object with fiery tail, flat trajectory, reported from Fort Worth, Tex. (cr. E.S.Schultz) --L.A. Daily News. King-sized egg 5 or 6 time size of a B-29, hovered over Benson, Ariz. for an hour, altitude 55,000 ft. Aluminum colored, no wings (cr. John Osterhold). The London Times wrote this one up.

Mpls, Minn. 4-12-52. Unidentified aerial objects over Minn. & Wis. (cr. K.I. Hefner). -- Large print in Minn. Star: "U.S.BECOMES SERIOUS ABOUT FLYING SAUCERS". (cr.H.A.Cronk). -- San Juan, Puerto Rico. Green fireballs over San Juan and Virgin Islands.

Las Vegas, Nev. INS. Flight of Saucers near the Nevada test site, reported by five men at Nellis A.F. Base... 18 circular dull-white objects. (This 'dull-white seems to be new). -- One glowing globe; then later, two of them, over San Jose, Calif. Motionless, or moving up and down (cr. Laura Wood).

Craft travelling more than 1000 mph over W. Ontario, Canada -- Strings of pink and brown objects having a 'gossamer effect'over Austin, Tex. -- "Eerie object" over Cleveland, O., brilliant on top, with blue-violet flare near bottom; did not maneuver but seemed to vibrate (cr. T.N.Bates) -- Large fiery object like a 'flying house afire' seen by some 200 students over Ithaca, N.Y. (cr. Mamie Warren) -- Green fireball over Phoenix, Ariz. "as big as the sun". -- Bright orange ball, low down and spinning, over Winchester, Va. (cr. Moorhus, Schultz, Louise Miller). Aluminum colored oval-shaped objects over Arizona, altitude about 55,000'. (cr. Kathleen Ludwick). -- Cigar-shaped object over Los Angeles (cr.I.H. Bellquist). (Credit Horace Cronk, I.J. Hepner, Otto Vogt, for details of flying objects over Minnesota etc.) ....

We could go on and on with this for a long time, but what's the use? Now that Life Magazine believes that Saucers exist, that part of the argument should be over with!!! But now, Who, Whence, Why, How etc. What - no answer? Maybe BSRA could shed a little light - but again, what's the use?

"Dion Fortune says somewhere, that the phenomena of any plane of exisfence cannot be explained in terms of that plane alone. Always, back of the facts and theories of science and the superficialities of 'common sense' lie forces, laws, and types of energy unknown to us - and the omniverse itself, since everything in existence is related to everything else. So, all explanations of the flying discs or anything else must always be partial and proximate, and man can only continue to try to understand and to expand knowledge and consciousness. The alternative is only stagnation or a rudderless drifting'. ("Etheria Calling, RR Aug. '49)

On that premise, we proceed. There are ether craft bases in Alaska and the Antarctic. Heard said as much ...

And then there is Adamski's photograph of a space ship releasing the 'saucers'. Slim Barnard in his Examiner column of 4-6-52 declares he saw the pictures. (cr. K.F.Green)

It has been demonstrated that mass thought is responsible for pre - vailing as well as pending events.

" Television viewers across the nation - 35 millions of them - saw the biggest atom bomb blast ever touched off in the U.S." (Sta.Ana Reg)

Mental chemistry - the changes which conditions pass through by the operation of mind.

We have a list of unexplained plane disasters - but is there anything to be gained by printing them? Or. by not printing them?

Association of ideas: The Air Force reveals, as of April 13, that in all some 225 officers have asked to be grounded. (cr ESS)-- Also by association, President opens the first American League, Big Brothers of the nation all around him - all having fun - including our fun-loving V.P. (Life, Apr.28, '52)

Catching up with BSRA? New research group in Los Angeles announce that ' Saucers operate in a field of electro-gravity that acts like a wave that is kept continually movingby an electro-gravitational generator .. controlled by an intelligence rather than a pilot -- capable of speed up to that of light... A superior intelligence thousands of years ahead of us would have many answers we don't know about.." (L.A.Times 4-8-52. Cr. GLR).-- Wonder if they've been reading the BSRA booklet on Ethership, with chapters by Assoc. Schultz and John Hilliar on methods of Disc propulsion.

PENSACOLA BLAST: Somebody pulled a trigger, that's for sure. Unexplained blast on April 9, '52, shook a 15-mile area, shattering windows and jarring plaster from ceilings. A similar explosion occurred at Pensacola about three years ago and was never explained. (The M.P. Controls have it, that explosions of this type are usually caused by a shifting of etheric stresses, and that the Etherians are able to produce this. Maybe a hint of what an etheric "atobomb" could do - if or when).

SO NOW WE KNOW - or do we - about that Tucumcari tank. The FBI think "it just collapsed." A magnificent formula - fits anything!

PRANKSTERS? A N.P. switch engine clanked to a halt on the company's siding. One of the box cars toppled over on its side. Box cars in front and behind remained upright. No broken rail, no explanation;it just tipped over (apply FBI formula, sup.) Mpl's Tribune 2-18-52. Cr. Inez Bellquist). The MP Controls, again, say there are such things as 'robot poltergeists', near-witless entities that shove things around like that. The 'skating boulders' of the Panamint Mts. are a case in point (Life, 3-10-52).

DISC over Winnipeg, changing colors, Apr. 21. Silver-green disc over Ottawa. Something going about 2100 mph. in same sky area, 21st or 23rd. "About 50 lights in a V-formation, dim orange color, no sound. Dunlap Observatory (Toronto) said they 'might have been meteors". Meteors in a V-formation!! How silly can an astronomer get? (cr. Mrs A.M.Hardy).

"We simply don't understand these things" laments Dr. O.M.Solandi, distinguished Canadian physicist. "We have the reports but they don't form acoherent pattern. For the time being they are left with a staff officer with whom we leave those things we don't understand". Dr.O.M.S. was no doubt being sardonic or something - but page the staff officer anyhow. (cr Mrs. A.M.H.).

These clips are part of what we call the Rising Tide, of acceptance and speculation - already higher than most people recognize - especially among our Canadian neighbors. Objects "outside the atmosphere and moving at supersonic speed" -- "the discs may have been sent from another planet to check on nuclear fission developments on earth" partly correct but how did they guess it? --"The space men may be anxious over the possibility that atomic activity here may disturb the cosmos" (correct - and why didn't we copyright that, five years ago?) "Objects which appear to be governed by thought and operate with propulsion methods strange to mankind" (says an editorial writer)Somebody must have sent him a BSRA release, 3-4 years back. "We can't laugh off the facts" says Dr. Peter Millman. "We can't ignore the reports as nonsense, says Dr. C.J.Mackenzie. Oui oui, messieurs! But for some five years you did 'laugh off' and 'ignore' the most detailed and circumstantial evidence - along with other 'intellectual leaders' of course. Can you blame us if our confidence in 'scientific authority' is somewhat less than perfect? We gather that you are now going to prove yourselves men of wide knowledge and tolerant opinions - and this side of your border there will be thousands of other 'intellectuals' to join you. May the crow at least be edible!

Once again, our thanks to many readers for items, clips and articles from various publications.

LADY, THE EDUCATED HORSE: As a kind of colophon to the foregoing, RR editor wants to take note again of LADY, a remarkable animal whom Assoc. Helen Lotreck described for us in RR several years ago. Lady Wonder (to name her rightly) lives in 'a snug red stable near Richmond, Va., is now 29 years of age, and is said to have been visited by some 100,000 people. That's because she 'talks' by means of an alphabet board, and according to the N.Y.World "can read minds, predict the future, and converse in Chinese." Some day, somebody will do a book on talking animals and the mysteries of them, and give Lady Wonder a very prominent place among them.

Of course psychologists have 'investigated' such animals in about the same way the physicists have 'investigated' flying discs - therefore (of course) most of us give the subject a brush-off. Equally of course, that's because we haven't any better sense and nobody but psychologists to instruct us. However - Lady Wonder has a record of correct predictions that seem far beyond coincidence.

Also (and with due respect to Professor Rhine) they are well beyond his telepathic hypothesis - unless we allow for telepathy on the sub- or unconscious side, which opens the door for anything.

Among her recent predictions, Lady described 1952 as "the year of war".

Now we wish someone would question her about the flying discs. Too bad this wasn't done five years ago. The horse-laugh on the scientists would then have been complete. But don't put off your interview. Lady says she is going to die at the age of 30, which will be next year - and a multitude of friends will wish her into green pastures.

And it's a commentary on humanity, that we have to go to a horse for information.

Somebody suggested, maybe evolution should start all over again, beginning with horses - that is, with the "Everlasting Nay..."

Note: Owner of Lady Wonder is Mrs. Claudia Fonda, " a few hundred yards off Route 1, Fla.-N.Y. Highway, 3 mi. south of Richmond." (Cr. Mrs. G. Hurlbert for clip).

SLIDE-RULE DINGHY

Also there's the bi-lingual chien named Dinghy, a pure-bred black cocker spaniel belonging to Dr. A.F. Jones, a Montreal surgeon formerly of the Canadian Air Force. Both the Ottawa Citizen and the Ottawa Journal give several columns to this canine, who barks out correct answers to square and cube roots (questions in either English or French). "Qu'est-ce que deux et deux?". Dinghy barks quatre fois. "How much is 7,986,743 divided by 24?". Dinghy growled and grrr-ed a bit but got the answer all right. He also barks off numbers on cards selected at random from a pack and not shown to him... Once again the question arises, how much of this is telepathic reception from some human who knows the answer; and again this will not cover all the instances unless we allow for unconscious knowledge and communication. From the time of the Elberfeld horses (1891) psychologists have written off such phenomena as fraud, unconscious signaling, and sometimes as telepathy - anything to escape the real problems and difficulties involved. The Mark P. Controls remarked casually, several years ago, that these were simply "advanced animals" - which will be a severe neck-pain to biologists but seems to us about the best comment to date.

(clips from Mrs.A.Hardy)

As an Addendum to Don Green's Lantern, too late for including with it but important for the record, the following item:

Dacca (Decca?) East Pakistan may be getting set to blow itself off the map with volcanic violence, comparable to Krakatoa. LB P-T (AP) "It is already officially reported to be sinking into the sea under volcanic bombardment. Pupulation of 40,000 being evacuated..."

Also as an addendum - the Long Beach Press Telegram reports "what appeared to be a flying saucer with some form of blue exhaust circling it - shiny and circular - seemed to pause over Long Beach, then dis - appeared to the east very fast." Observed by the V.M.Hill family of L.B.

And a memo. in our own behalf. Kindly people, friends of humanity, are now and then aggrieved somewhat over the gloom of the Communicators and the pessimism of many forecasts. But RR seeks neither pessimism nor optimism, but only honest opinions that seem worth listening to.

Round Robin is supposedly a publication for adults, not for wishful thinkers.

If some disaster probably impends, there should be some source where people who can 'take it' can get information. If it is mere fantasy and fearful conjecture, it is great disservice to alarm anyone uselessly. With many items it is difficult to decide. We at times compromise by suppressing facts too alarming for public distribution -but do not feel obliged to say "all's right with the world" at the same time. There are cults of hopefulness, consolations of religion, and the comfortable satisfactions of ignorance for those who desire them. We have no wish to destroy these resources - nor to serve them. We try for a dispassionate and intelligent realism - however great our shortcomings.

WITH OUR CORRESPONDENTS

FACTS OF LIFE:

"I think I heard that healthy chortle of yours all the way to here, anent LIFE'S story bringing saucers right out into polite circles. It's a bit like being non-existent socially until Mrs. Van de Rox introduces you at Newport afternoon tea. After that you are existent, a member of society, the human race or something. Well, remember it took a long time for even the most primitive facts of life to get around to being mentioned in polite circles. Well do I remember how my dear old grandma would whisper to me, a child, that the old cow "found" that calf out in the brush.

After all, LIFE'S action makes for one of the most profound changes in human thought in many centuries - recognition on the part of a duly accepted spokesman of phenomena outside our terrestial sphere. So now it's proper to discuss the thing right out loud. In our very undemocratic country nothing has been so until some authorized Opinionator gave it authority - the rest of us can talk back to our radios in full enjoyment of 'free speech'

Assoc. HDC, Buena Park
Calif.

(Let's not 'chortle' too hastily; grandma's inhibitions still have a stranglehold - on saucer business if not about sex. Ed.)

THAT STRANGE NOISE, says Max Long, "comes from Round Robin trying to crow at the long-last vindication of his claims that flying saucers are 'real'. . . RR and BSRA scooped the world on flying discs and related matters. Also, what could be found by way of explanation came from the same source, whether from the field of psychic science or from careful studies of all available facts . . ."

(This comes from his HUNA RESEARCH Bulletin 76, which goes on to mention the Aurameter and the electronic "bug-chaser". How any BSR associate can get along without at least subscribing to the HUNA BULLETINS is hard to understand; they often contain pages of important B.R. data. A dollar or two for Huna Buls. and information is a good investment - send to Max Freedom Long, Box 2867, Hollywood 28, Calif.

(There may be caws or cause for a crow, Max, but that noise was really a faint twitter, account of having been 'vindicated' four-five times before - and what good is a vindication if nobody believes it?).

BACK TO THE BUG-CHASER - mentioned above - and to an important correction to our mention of that subject in RR vii-6, page 14. Assoc. Lura B. Shreck writes: "Bryce is not the "inventor" of this apparatus but has leased equipment developed by Wm. Knuth. Eucalyptus is death to a cotton pest in southern States but is not the treatment for many other pests. One bug's poison is another's meat, so the insecticide 'dropped in the radio' varies according to determinations made by laboratory research. The photo' determines the wave length of the field to be "de-bugged" and the treatment is set on that carrier wave-which is confined to the area photographed. NOT phony - payment is made only when purchaser is satisfied with the pest control."

Asso.LBS writes from 1020 Cortez Ave.,Burlingame, Calif.

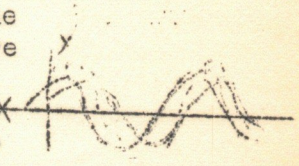
LIFE article again:

Although the LIFE release is a big and exciting piece to the man in the street, still it offers so much floundering misinformation, so much preening by Brass and "scientific" ignoranti (plus failure to mention BSR's real Disc data) that it takes a strong BSRA stomach to wade thru it. I find it especially hard to stomach the pictures of assorted "scientists" rocket experts and dizzy Brass .. all of whom know as much or are as qualified to study or give opinions on Disc matters as an African bushman on relativity and quantum ... Still, it's a start in the right direction. And it's a matter not for metaphysicians only, or for scientists only, but for those who have a well-integrated grask of both kinds of thinking... In the meantime, BSR Associates would do well to keep on spreading our latest Disc manifesto ..." Assoc. E.S.S.

(Basic scientific thinking inevitably runs into metaphysics, and hence into the "occult" ("out, damned spot!") - and the "occult" of today is the science of tomorrow - and the ecclectic type of mind which is capable of both approaches is a type which our culture has not produced - yet the future of our culture (if it have any) depends on this kind of thinking - ergo, it depends on something we haven't got (save for the secretive, ineffective few) -- and these are all truisms, or facts as familiar as cyanide, and Why we keep on repeating them, 'God knows, doesn't tell'. - But the main problem is to keep one's blood pressure down and the chin up...)

JOHN A. HILLIARD ON "TIME VACUUM"

"Concerning Natalli on the time vacuum - I wonder if time could be particulate as well as periodic. Referring to an idea developed a while back concerning space or spaces being the result of tensors generated by the configuration of basic particles - a static picture - add motion and we have configuration plus a periodic motion in which both, and only together produce space - we have then a dynamic space in which events can take place. That can't happen in a static space. Here we have a sine and cosine wave and the 'resultant'. At the points where the result crosses the X axis the result is 0 - a nice round zero. If the resultant of the period of the involved particles (within the atom) represent time -- do you see what I mean? There is an instant when it is nil, changing from plus to minus & from minus to plus again. An intrigueing idea - eh, what?" J.A.H.



(Assoc. J.A.H. is the author of THE METATRON THEORY, described by Max Freedom Long as 'a remarkable contribution to the progress' of the facts and theories of HUNA science. A 34-page booklet issued by the BSRA Hdqrs.)

PROJECT HERMES: (NOTE):

Excerpts from corresp. of Edw. John, BSRA.

"Project Hermes" concerns a device intended to effect telepathic communication on this plane, & by an extension of its use communication with other planes also. The basic information was received thru Assoc. Rolf Telano and the device is still in an experimental stage but shows some signs of operating. The device is NOT for sale. The details of construction will be useful only to persons with considerable knowledge in radio and electronics. Also, technicians should have some grounding in certain "occult" concepts in physics. The device may easily be dangerous (in physiological effects) to unqualified enthusiasts. A limited number of information leaflets are available to serious investigators. The excerpts from Assoc. John's letter represent his personal opinion and experience, and the BSR Director does not attempt to evaluate them, but offers them for the information of Associates already studying this apparatus).

(E.J. to M.L.) BSR Director)

'When it comes to the tests, there are subjects and subjects. Yours are no doubt too tense to feel the feeble radiations, nevertheless the set does work. A nervous, irritable and somewhat frightened person will not get any - thing except a headache. Make certain that the subject does not have to go some place, that he is relaxed, that he feels curiosity about the possible results - and tries to contact some person whom he has read of or heard about in history or mythology. This enhances the operation of the device a great deal.

'Remember that this device is a two-way apparatus; if you wish to hear you should send out a call. Beings in other dimensions are likely to wait until they are called before they try to answer. They are afraid of being called 'queer', even in their own world. . .Don't use this device until you have time to relax, and until you feel that you have an open mind. Space and time of course make no difference; you can reach per - sons who lived in ancient Egypt, as well as operators of space ships from Arcturus or the Great Bear... Yes, my own subjects experienced various heavy delayed effects (of some hours) - dreams, and strong astral projections bordering on materialization.

Young people newly married are the poorest subjects, next those who have many business and legal troubles. With the average person it works to a degree. Boatmen, fishermen and others who work on the sea the best. Weak mediums are also very good subjects, but well developed strong mediums should not touch the device under any circumstances. Use this set in a quiet place, and tune it slowly and gradually to avoid shock. It works about two feet from the user but for best results it should be as near the "third eye" (pineal gland) as possible...'

-end-

Assoc. John's address is 475 Fell St.,San Francisco.

The M.P. Controls also advise great caution in the use of this device. It sensitizes certain brain cells and the chief problem is that of con - trol and selectivity. Please refer again to our first paragraph above before writing about this Project.

NOTES FROM THE MARK PROBERT COMMUNICATORS

The YADA
DI SHI'ITE

'What do I think of the atobomb? *I think you should at least fear it. You say, 'the scientific minds handling this know what they are doing - we can put our trust in them.' So! How many weapons have they devised and handled in the past! Every few years there is the holacaust of war. I tell you, one human life is of more importance than all the inventions of war. Blood spilt for lies! But it has been the same in all countries and all ages. The road to glory truly leads to the grave - and for the dead you build beautiful monuments! .

All of our Inner Circle watched the tests over Nevada.

These men who were exposed to a "safe" degree of radiation! They do not show any effects now - but the Geiger counter measures only so much, not all. In time, mutations will appear, there will be changes in the blood cells, sterility will ensue - many of these men will father no children. New diseases, similar to cancer, will appear. The air is becoming widely contaminated. There will be sudden and unexpected changes in the weather. The great belt of the ionosphere is being disrupted. Man can play with some of the processes of Nature and escape consequences, at least for a time - but with others he cannot play and escape. But I do not mean to preach- I speak only of the facts as I havenoted them from my present plane of existence.

Yes*, the effects are felt to some extent on all the planes, but especially on what you call the low astral.

The effect on the astral and low etheric beings is one of deep de - pression and melancholy. It is like a hypnotic spell. It is those who are most interested in earth affairs, in helping humanity, who suffer most from this shock. Yes, many of the Discs come from the higher etheric.

Now you will have more - many more flying objects. The flight of most of these objects is designed to make conditions better for you in your contaminated atmosphere. They are sent out by the Guardians of the Earth. This is not the first time - all this has been done in the past.

In wars of past time, means have been used for destroying people without damage to their cities, houses, possessions. The survivors fled underground - many miles under ground. There the descendants of these races still exist. For the most part they are degenerate stocks. Their skins may be white, or purple, or green. Many stories of devils have arisen from chance glimpses of these people. Yes, they have some communication with the surface, but it is taught among them that the "Sun Dwellers" are of evil nature and must be shunned.

There are vast systems of tunnels, enormous caverns, many living beings beneath the surface of your world.

Some of the mutations in these races produced very small beings.

Note: * Questions put to the Control, omitted in transcript.

There may be some scientific apparatus among them. There is or was a machine which gives off a wave and carries voices, which have been believed to be voices of the dead - but they are not.

Memory is not a time action, that is, as you understand measureable time. It is a two-way action - or let us say there is no past and no future. For the seer and the prophet there is none. The prophet remembers the future. This is not religionism, but scientific fact.

Some rays of the Sun produce life, but other rays destroy it. It is the ionized belt around the earth which makes life possible. Without it, or with a thin light-weight belt, there would be very little life and little water. . . There are changes taking place in the sun that cause certain forms of mental action. There are factors in environment that cause agitation and reduce reason to emotion.

The war in Korea? * It is only the little flame kept burning until man can add more fuel. When this small flame is fed more fully it will become very warm upon your earth. No,* your world will not be destroyed, but many, very many must die unless the Etheric minds can impress upon you not to do certain things.

PROFESSOR ALFRED LUNTZ: "I have been with this medium on his trip to Salt Lake City. With him, I observed the statue of Brigham Young. I could not but take note, that he stands with his back to the church and hand outstretched toward a local bank. . .

There are diseases which arise from changes in etheric conditions. These cause corresponding changes in the glands - and with these, the viruses appear. . . As to harmful material in the air, lights will be invented which will destroy it and purifiy the air. . . In your solar system, that which greatly affects one body affects all. Now, all of the solar system has been disturbed by your use of the atobomb. And the complete end of your planet, if it came about, might wreck all the others along with it... a wholesale catastrophe!

FRANK EDWARDS, CONTROL: (Naval officer, communications, electronics etc.) (well known to many Associates in San Diego - recently deceased).

It seems to me, from my short time over here, that the all-important thing in this world is control of the emotions - or better, perhaps, attention control. For this is the emotion body we use, and the plane of emotion we live in. Here thought and feeling create forms - material forms. Uncontrolled fear or hate, or love or desire, build a personal world for each of us. It is feeling. or thought charged with feeling, that can create heavens and hells for each one. If you cannot control your feelings and thoughts, you are at the mercy of these storms. .. Yes, I travel much, and I study physics a nd chemistry and the like. Here, the lecturers can address hundreds of thousands of listeners, for no air deadens the voice; it can be heard clearly at great distances... Yes, I am watching experiments in Paris too, which I shall try to explain to you later. M., have you seen ....? All my love to her. . .
